Dear Harold,

Feb., 1, 1989

I thought you might be interested in a letter I sent to Time this morning in response to one of the articles in their Nov. 28th issue on the assassination. What led me to do this checking was a student's report on that article. As you can also see, I obtained the signatures of roughly half the students in the project. I am curious to see what, if any, response it gets.

We have only two more sessions and the Interim period will come to an end. This week students have been giving reports on various books and articles. Since I have not read many of these books, I am interested in getting an idea of what they are all about. The Mafia books all seem fundamentally weak when it comes to discussing the actual assassination.

I trust Oswald in New Orleans has reached your hands. I mailed it last Friday ( the 27th).

Best Wishes,

Jerry
